DETAILED ACTION

EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Paul A. Harrity on June 21, 2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

In The Claims

20. (Canceled).

Allowable Subject Matter

2. Claims 1-19 and 21-26 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The prior art does not teach or fairly suggest an expanded interconnect module located proximate to the local interconnect modules and including coupling means for electrically coupling to the non-local I/O channels, and expanded transfer elements for transferring information, received at a plurality of speeds and formatted according to a plurality of protocols, between the local interconnect modules, as specified in independent claim 1.

The prior art does not teach or fairly suggest an expanded interconnect module including coupling means for electrically coupling to the non-local I/O channels, and expanded transfer elements for transferring information between the local interconnect modules; and redundancy generating means for generating an alternative version of information between transferred out of the interconnect network by generating a bit-by-bit "exclusive-or" between pairs of the groups of information words included in an information cell, as specified in independent claim 21.

The prior art does not teach or fairly suggest an expanded interconnect module including coupling means for electrically coupling to the non-local I/O channels, and expanded transfer elements for transferring information between the local interconnect modules; and quality of service means for indicating unavailability for receiving information having a particular associated priority on one or more of the local I/O channels, as specified in independent claim 22.

The prior art does not teach or fairly suggest at least one expanded interconnect module including coupling means for electrically coupling to the non-local I/O channels, and expanded transfer elements for transferring information between the local interconnect modules; and the local and the expanded transfer elements further include clumping means for substantially simultaneously transferring a plurality of the information cells, as specified in independent claim 23.

The prior art does not teach or fairly suggest an expanded interconnect module within the communication node including means for coupling to each of the local interconnect modules, and expanded transfer elements for transferring information between the local interconnect modules, thereby enabling transfer of information between the external communication channels of different ones of the selectable number of local communication modules, as specified in independent claims 24 and 25.

Art Unit: 2667

The prior art does not teach or fairly suggest transferring information from one of the local interconnect modules to an I/O channel of an expanded interconnect module proximately located within the communication node in response to a non-local destination address; transferring information from the expanded interconnect module to another particular one of the local interconnect modules in response to the non-local destination address; and scaling bandwidth of the interconnect network by including a selectable number of the local interconnect modules in the plurality of local interconnect modules, as specified in independent claim 26.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
